

SHY Zip Screen on the slopes

Why have blinds if you can't see out and why fit inside when you can have the benefit of extra solar protection from external blinds?

On the outskirts of Manchester this house has the benefit of a full height glazed extension to add space, light and provide a panoramic view. But with so much glass there was a need to control glare and thermal gain. Given the challenge the obvious solution was a SHY Zip Screen blind fitted externally with an open weave fabric.

3.8m wide x 5.5m drop electrically operated blind with automatic wind sensor protection installed showing SHY Zip Screen is just as happy outside as in.
